A membership in the FFF helps conserve, restore and educate.

Myke Whyte

...and that means rewards for you in the future.

"The FFF has been an important part of my life since 1967. I'm pleased to see its role become more defined-that of educating men, women and children, both in enjoyment and conservation of this wonderful sport."

Joan Salvato Wulff

"The FFF is a MUST organization for anyone interested in the sport. FFF helps protect fisheries, share ideas with members and bring together anglers in all areas of fly fishing. Belonging is a real bargain."

Lefty Kreh

"The FFF has been the most positively influential organization for the advancement of fly fishing and fly tying worldwide in this century. I could never have achieved my goals in the sport without the FFF. I encourage you to join."
